

Reaching out to help in South America

Recently, Elgin Stouffer has taken to playing Spanish language tapes on his car radio. And reading about the trees of South America. (Carapeet, Mange, Boisbiab, and Mayocochon are just some of the varieties, he explains, carefully spelling out the names.)

In fact, the Minden real estate salesman has been trying to learn everything he can about the culture and lumber industry of Peru because last November he was chosen by the Canadian government to spend three months in the South American country as a technical advisor on the running of saw mills.

He flew to Lima on Monday but shortly before packing his bags Stouffer spoke to The Times.

"Of course I'm looking forward to the trip," he says. "I've never been to Peru and it's a very interesting country."

Though communist Peruvian guerillas frequently make the pages of Canadian newspapers, Stouffer doesn't believe there is much chance they will disturb his visit.

Stouffer says he's much more interested in the country itself.

"You know, it's 200 miles between Lima, the capital, and a city called Pucalpa, but the road joining them over the Andes rises 15,000 feet. That's a lot considering the route through the Canadian Rockies at Rodger's Pass reaches its peak at about 5,000 feet."

The potential for Peru and the countries of the Amazon delta as lumber producers is enormous, Stouffer says. "At present, only about one per cent of the annual timber grown in Peru is cut. The total timber growth of those countries is so huge that they could meet the hardwood needs of the entire world indefinitely."

The only real problem, he explains, is getting the wood out of the forests and onto the market. With three thousand kilometres of dense rainforest on one side and one of the world's tallest mountain ranges on the other, this is a stumbling block indeed.

As a technical advisor, Stouffer's job will be to help Peruvian lumber companies set up modern sawmill equipment sold to them by Canadian manufacturers. The equipment purchase is part of an effort to modernize the Peruvian lumber industry, which at present is still at the developing stage.

Stouffer explains that the country has a super-abundance of raw material (trees) but few modern mills.

"The quality of wood they have there is as good as anything we have here in Canada, and trees grow so quickly in the rain forests that areas that are cut replenish themselves at a phenomenal rate."

Stouffer is not new to his role as technical advisor. Four years ago he and present Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt spent time on the tiny Caribbean Island of Dominica, setting up a saw mill after a hurricane there flattened all the trees.

"That was quite an experience, too," he says. "At first we suffered a bit from culture shock because of drastic change in climate and life style. In Dominica,

Welcome home Bob McCausland

Bob McCausland has returned to his home in Gooderham. The man, who underwent two heart transplant operations in late November and December, returned from the Toronto hospital that has been his home for the past month, on Saturday.

"His heart is working great," his wife Joan commented Tuesday from their home. "Of course he has a long way to go, he's lost a lot of weight, but he's glad to be home and we're glad to have him home."

McCausland, who is the reeve of Glamorgan Township, underwent the first operation November 29, when the heart of an 18 year old Hamilton man matching his tissue type became available. The operation appeared to have gone well with the patient taking the first steps to recovery. However, a little more than a week after the operation, signs of rejection started to show. On December 11, a second heart was transplanted into the man's chest to replace the one his body was rejecting. Careful monitoring by the medical team and the use of anti-rejection drugs brought the Gooderham resident through the trauma following the second operation.

The drug therapy will continue, as will regular trips to Toronto for rests, but Bob McCausland has obviously cleared the most serious hurdles between his illness and a return to good health.

His wife Joan, who has been a constant companion throughout the ordeal, has worked up her own bit of therapy. "I'm giving him lots of TLC," she commented Tuesday. "We're so happy to have him home."

Stanhope backs resort proposal

Stanhope council has given its approval "in principle" to a plan to build a $10-million resort that would extend into Stanhope Township from Anson and Minden Townships.

The plan is being proposed by Minden resident Joe Warder of Beau Valley Farms and three Ottawa companies, Kalar Industries, Real Property Investments and Management and Chamberlain Associates.

Earlier this month the group asked Anson, Hindon and Minden council to approve the project, but council asked for more information before making a decision. Reeve Sinc Nesbitt explained that his council would need to look at specific plans before they could make the zoning changes that would be necessary if the project is to go any further.

The resort, to be built on about 1,000 acres along the Bobcaygeon Road, is to have riding stables and an arena, a trout pond, an archery range, a lodge, a beach on Lake Kushog, a small zoo, cross-country ski trails, and a maple sugar shack.

At present Beau Valley Farms owns 85 acres; the group has options to purchase the rest of the land.

Ian Young, president of Kalar Industries, told Stanhope council the resort would operate year-round and would cater to middle income families and singles.

"I picture a complete resort complex, not dissimilar to the PineStone - except we'll have a real lake," Young said.

He explained that it would be patterned after holiday retreats popular in Quebec where guests take part in organized daily activities.

Joe Warder said in an interview that such resorts

Haliburton fund raiser set for Saturday

Once again this year the Rotary Club of Haliburton is sponsoring a Snowarama for Timmy, a fund raising drive for the Easter Seal Society.

The Haliburton Club's Snowarama takes place this Saturday at the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife north of West Guilford. Snowmobile riders take part by gathering pledges based on the number of kilometres they travel. The club has laid out a 100 kilometre course through the recreational area.

Chairman for this year's event, Greg Bishop, noted that the proceeds from the annual ride are used to assist

Car races begin this weekend

This weekend will be the first of six weekends running during which the village of Minden will host the Ontario Ice Car Races.

The track, in the community fairground, was built by the Minden Kinsmen and is being leased to the ice car racing clubs.

This year the races are being sponsored by the STP oil company, who will provide the start-finish banner and the trophies.

The races will take place on both Saturday and Sunday and an expected 125 cars will participate in each competition. The object is to finish the course in the shortest possible time.

There are 11 classes and the races are free for spectators.

"It's a poor man's sport," said Minden organizer Marg Prentice (she, her husband Tom, and two of her sons will be participating.) "You don't have to do much to a car to make it ice race worthy and in fact, in some classes you're better off with an old beater."

She said that at some points there will be as many as 50 cars on the track at once.

Every week the ice car races are hosted by a different Ontario club.

In the past races were held on tracks plowed on lakes. Prentice said Minden's is one of the few dry land tracks. The problem with lake tracks, she said, is that slush and mild weather can ruin the racing surface.

Helping in Peru

people speak a sort of patois as well as English, so at times there was a communication problem.

"They tried to teach us a bit of patois - it's a mixture of French and English - but I don't think they were successful."

Stouffer points out that one of the things he found most interesting about Dominica was the attitude toward work.

"I remember going out with some of the work crews in the morning, and everybody would be talking and laughing at once. It was great. Here at home people are more earnest. You go out on a work crew here and everybody's quiet," he said.

"Yes, in some ways I think the Dominicans lived a pretty nice life. People here look at them and say they're poor, they haven't got anything. But that's not true at all."

Realizing that Peru will be as foreign to Canada as Dominica, and likely more so, Stouffer intends to approach the new experience with the same open mind.

"I know it takes a while for people to be comfortable with one another. And if people are going to work together they have got to like each other, so of course it'll take some time before I can settle down and really start working."

Local investors sought for resort are growing in popularity. "People need a reason to go somewhere now," Warder said. "They don't just want to sit in the sun anymore."

He said that guests at his group's resort would have a full range of activities to choose from, including riding, archery, fishing, swimming, and cross-country skiing.

Warder said that the idea to build the resort was his and that he first went to Ottawa in search of capital and advice last summer. "I wanted to upgrade my business and I needed help," he explained.

At present, Beau Valley Farms is a riding stable on 85 acres at the Queen's Line in Minden Township. Warder and his wife, Shirley, started the business in 1983.

Ian Young told Stanhope council that his group plans to raise the money for the project by setting up a government-sponsored small business development corporation. This program, he said, is particularly attractive to investors because it enables them to avoid paying tax on their investment.

He said local businessmen would be welcome to take part in the project, adding that "we feel it's important local interests be considered."

Plans for the development are still at an early stage, but as they stand now most of the important buildings are to go up in Stanhope Township.

According to a schedule included in the group's presentation to both municipal councils, construction could begin within the first few months of 1987. The final stage - it involves the building of private chalets on resort land - would be completed by the end of 1991.

One important point was raised when councillor Jock Mavor asked Young if his group had yet considered the problem of sewage disposal in their plans, as "a complex of this size would produce a considerable amount of waste."

Young admitted they had not, but said they would as soon as the project gets off the ground.

crippled children in Ontario through the Easter Seals Society and the Rotary Club's donations to the Five Counties Children Centre in Peterborough.

Not only will riders be raising money for a worthwhile charity, they could win a prize for their efforts. Greg Bishop explained, "This year we are offering a free weekend at PineStone Inn for the rider who registers with the highest amount of paid up pledges." The chairman noted that by encouraging riders to bring their donations with them, they reduce the cost of additional billing and waiting time before all the donations are collected.

"As well," Bishop added, "every rider bringing in $50 or more in paid up pledges, will receive a Snowarama cap courtesy of the Rotary Club."

Registration for the event this Saturday takes place at the Forest and Wildlife gate between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. As in the past, riders will receive free gasoline for their machines and a complimentary lunch. For more information, contact the ride chairman at 457-2811.

The Rotary Club of Minden will be holding their Snowarama for Timmy February 14. For more information, contact the ride chairman, Steve Berry at 286-2750.

Racers head for New York State

While for most of the community, the excitement of the sled dog derby has faded, for several couples in the county, the Minden race is just the start of an exciting season.

Steve and Val Lougheed and Gary and Alex Pringle took their dog teams north this past weekend to compete in a derby at the Verner Winter Carnival.

Steve placed second in the eight dog competition while Val came in fourth in the four dog race. Gary Pringle placed eighth in the eight dog class.

The Lougheeds will be travelling to Tupper Lake, New York to compete in a sled dog race this coming weekend and the following weekend will compete at Saranac Lake also in New York state.

Skiers plan major race

Cross-country ski enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see some of the keenest competitive skiers in southern Ontario this weekend at an inter-divisional cross-country ski race planned for the county trail system.

So far, organizers have received 114 registrations with more expected to arrive before the Thursday deadline. The organizers had hoped to attract between 75 and 100 racers and are therefore very pleased with the response. One of the organizers, Rhonda Elstone, noted that for many of the racers this will be their first visit to the Haliburton Highlands. "We hope the exposure to the Highlands trail system will encourage some of the participants to return again," she commented.

The weekend of skiing includes two sets of races. On Saturday the participant will be competing in a free-style event with a number of classes related to the age of the skiers. The free-style form allows the skiers to use any style they wish. Elstone speculates that many of the racers will opt for the "skating" form to test the five to 15 kilometre loop courses.

On Sunday, traditional style skiing will be the order of the day with skiers competing over loops from 2.5 to 10 kilometres in length.

All participants in this sanctioned event are registered competitors who take the sport of cross-country ski racing seriously.

The winners of the various events during the two days of racing will receive medals for their efforts.

Spectators wishing to take in the event can view the start and finish of each race at the trail access point on Highway 121 opposite PineStone Inn. Access is off Soyers Lake Road. There is no charge for spectators.

This race is being held under the joint sponsorship of the Haliburton Cross-Country Ski Club and the Nordic Trail Association. Race officials and trail help are being drawn from the ranks of the two organizations.

This is the first year such a race has been held in the area, although last year a master competition, with racers 30 years and older, was held on the same trail system.

The Haliburton Club had considered organizing a loppet for later this year, however they have abandoned plans for the project citing the amount of work required in organizing such an event. The club is still considering a loppet for next season, noting the greater appeal such an event has for the general public and skiers at a less competitive level.

Pointing out the need

Last week we reported on the possibility of an ambulance attendants strike in sections of Ontario. While the attendants working out of the Minden office will not be part of the walk-out, the disruption in neighbouring areas will have a major impact on ambulance service here.

The primary impact will be a potential reduction in the speed and availability of ambulance service from the Minden office. Local attendants could be called on to "cover" where other attendants have walked out. That means an ambulance and attendants could be responding to a call in Fenelon Falls when an emergency occurs in the usual coverage area. While there is a system of back-up procedures in place for when an ambulance leaves the area, this system could be severely strained if services are withdrawn in adjacent areas and a number of emergency calls are received at the same time.

The issues surrounding the strike call are numerous and interwoven in the patchwork of ambulance services which dot the province. However, the threat to local service points out a glaring need that has long been identified and yet unaddressed. For several years now, ambulance service co-ordinator Rob Luke has been requesting additional full-time attendants to meet the needs of the present service area. That need has continued to grow with the population and will be even more acute if the attendants based in our county are asked to do the work of their striking colleagues in adjacent areas.

The province should move quickly to resolve issues which have prompted the strike call and, at the same time, should ensure that the service provided through Minden is not harmed by lack of manpower.

Winter fantasy

The search for success

- by Arthur Black -

Anyone seen on a bus after the age of thirty has been a failure in life.

Loelia, Duchess of Westminster.

Failure. The dark side of a big, white, just-out-of-reach shiny moon called Success. Now there's a rack upon which many an otherwise perfectly healthy human spirit has been broken. Why do you suppose we human beings are so obsessed with success? So fearful of failure? Other inhabitants of the planet, from blue whales to bivalves, have the innate good sense to be satisfied with getting enough to eat, a good night's sleep and the opportunity to produce a sufficiency of little blue whales and bivalves to carry on the family name. Not old Homo Erectus. He has to be "successful".

Whatever that means.

What aggravates the situation is the fact that from our earliest years we are whipped into a lather of achievement by the example of our peers. No one expects us to match Mozart, who composed minuets at the age of five, or John Stuart Mill, who learned Greek before he was four, but there's always the example of little Johnnie, two rows over, who could write in beautiful, flowing long-hand while the rest of the class laboured, tongues jammed in the corners of their mouths to scratch out block letters. Why couldn't we draw like Francine? Add and subtract like Gordie? Speak properly like Elaine? The question wasn't always asked, but it was always there, hanging in the air.

The race for the brass ring doesn't end with adulthood either. Comparison with our peers doesn't cease just because our arches sag or our hair falls out. "Middle age" according to writer Kurt Vonnegut Jr. "is when you realize you're being governed by the people you went to school with." And just in case you think eligibility for the Canada Pension entitles you to a breather, there's always the examples set by the elder over-achievers. George Bernard Shaw wrote a play at 93. At 89, Albert Schweitzer was running a hospital. Pablo Casals, Winston Churchill, Bertrand Russell, all did some of their best work as octogenarians. One of the funniest men and biggest box office draws in Hollywood is a 91-year-old Vaudevillian named George Burns.

Maybe it's the compulsive drive for over-achievement that motivates Tom Joyner. I can't think of any other explanation. Mister Joyner is a disc jockey in Chicago, Illinois. He is also a disc jockey in Dallas, Texas. Every day Tom Joyner rolls out of his Dallas bed at 3:30 a.m., hosts the KKDA FM early morning show until 9:30, then he hops on a plane for Chicago and, the gods of O'Hare airport permitting, lands in time to host the 2 to 6 afternoon show on WGCI FM.

Naturally, Tom finds himself with a lot of idle time on his hands, so he's just signed with CBS Radio to do yet another show -- a weekly three-hour special to be called, aptly enough, On The Move.

I don't know about you, but I'm glad I'm not Tom Joyner -- although I wouldn't mind first dibs on his Friendly Flyer bonus points.

There is a point at which compulsive over-achievers become a parody of themselves. Tom Joyner is rapidly approaching that mark.

Richard Black is 'way over the line.

Two years ago, Black (no relation, I'm happy to say) decided that the world was not giving him what he richly deserved -- namely, fame. So Black packed his bags and went out to get it himself. "I told myself that if I hadn't gotten on Johnny Carson within two years, I'd get a real job" Black says. Well, he hasn't made the Carson show, but he has made a few waves.

Such as the time he wrote a clutch of humour books, then delivered copies of the manuscripts to several prospective New York publishers.

Black dressed in a gorilla suit to make the deliveries.

Then there was Black's exceedingly brief career in the world of advertising, in which Black gate-crashed the offices of a senior vice president of J. Walter Thompson. The ad agency had the Listerine account you see.

Editor:

I am writing as a concerned parent. It is very hard to believe that not one of the three resort pools which have contributed to a very worthwhile "Red Cross Swim Program" in the past will not do so again.

Is this another unhappy ending to a very valuable course because of limited facilities?

Perhaps it is really time for both Minden and Haliburton to get together and find a solution to this very common problem.

Instead of duplicating and outdoing, shouldn't we be working together to provide for both communities somewhere in the middle. I fully support Sir Sandford Fleming College but I am a firm believer in year round programs. There are many talented and well educated instructors in our area to provide for the community but unfortunately, again, the lack of enough safe and appropriate facilities do not exist on a full-time basis.

Let the resorts provide for the tourists as they should.

We want our communities to provide for us.

Patti Prentice,
Minden.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Claude Bergeron, a participant in the recent Minden Sled Dog Derby, sent the following letter to Bill Payne, the MC for the weekend's activities. We sought Bill's permission to reprint it here because of the interesting comments it contained.

Mr. Bill Payne,
Minden, Ontario.

Hello Wild Bill:

Here is your friend Claude. Millions of thanks from Jr. Claude - Pierre and myself for making us feel so welcome.

As you know, the three of us had a big job speaking English for the Quebec boys. We hope we didn't make anybody mad, because as I explained to Gary Pringle Friday night, we were simply repeating their words.

Bill it is a sin that God does not permit that a man like you would live forever. I know how big a job you had, because I am a rodeo (horses) announcer and MC for strength and body building contests since 1962.

Bill, I want you to say "thank you" to the Minden people for the warm welcome. They made us feel at home. And thank you.

Your friend,
Claude Bergeron,
Gatineau, P.Q.

Fitting in is a gradual process says minister

"I'm just the new kid on the block," says Ed Moll, "I've got a lot to learn." But Minden's new United Church Minister has already done a lot of things.

At different times in his life Moll has hitch hiked across the country from the Maritimes to the B.C. coast, has been a street musician in a number of Canadian cities, has renovated old houses, and has been a carpenter.

For the past two and a half years Moll has been serving as a minister in the village of Denbigh in Lennox County. That, he says, was one of the most satisfying jobs he's had.

"It was a small congregation, but I really grew attached to the people. The country is beautiful, perhaps a little more wild than Haliburton County.

"And of course it always takes time for people in a village to open up to an outsider. By the end of my stay in Denbigh my wife Elaine and I really felt like part of the community, so we were sad to leave.

"But at the same time we very much look forward to serving here in Minden."

Rev. Moll's approach to the ministry was gradual. As a high school student in London, Ontario, he didn't feel drawn in any direction and wasn't excited by his classes.

"I quit school at grade 12 and decided to get out and see the country. So I hitch hiked all over Canada, from St. John to Vancouver. I paid for my meals by playing my guitar on street corners.

"But that's a hard life and I eventually got fed up with it and came back home to London where I found work doing home renovations."

It was at about this point that Moll began to feel he should be doing something with his life, that he should go into the church. So he set out with renewed vigor to take the necessary courses to gain entry to divinity school.

"First, I enrolled at the University of Western in a French language course. I stayed there for two years and did my final year at Laval University in Quebec City.

"I loved it there. I learned a lot of French and I also learned a great deal about the culture."

After graduating from Western, Moll went back to Quebec where he spent many happy months helping to renovate the ancient Anglican Cathedral in the city.

"Working there in that old building was marvelous. It was built over 250 years ago, and just by being there you got such a sense of history.

"One of the things I did was to make book shelves and tables from some old pews that had been stored away in the basement. Now, those pews were put in the church when it was first built. They were made of solid English oak cut from the Windsor forest about the time of George III. Some of the wood had dry-rot but most of it was still good. It was an incredible feeling working with it."

While he was in Quebec, Moll tried to learn as much as he could about the French Canadian culture. He improved his fluency and met a lot of people, and he still goes back for visits as often as he can.

"Even though I was never quite fluent in the language, I was well accepted. The whole language issue in that province, I thought, was blown out of proportion."

After spending three years in Quebec, Moll returned to Ontario so he could take his degree in divinity at Emmanuel College at the University of Toronto.

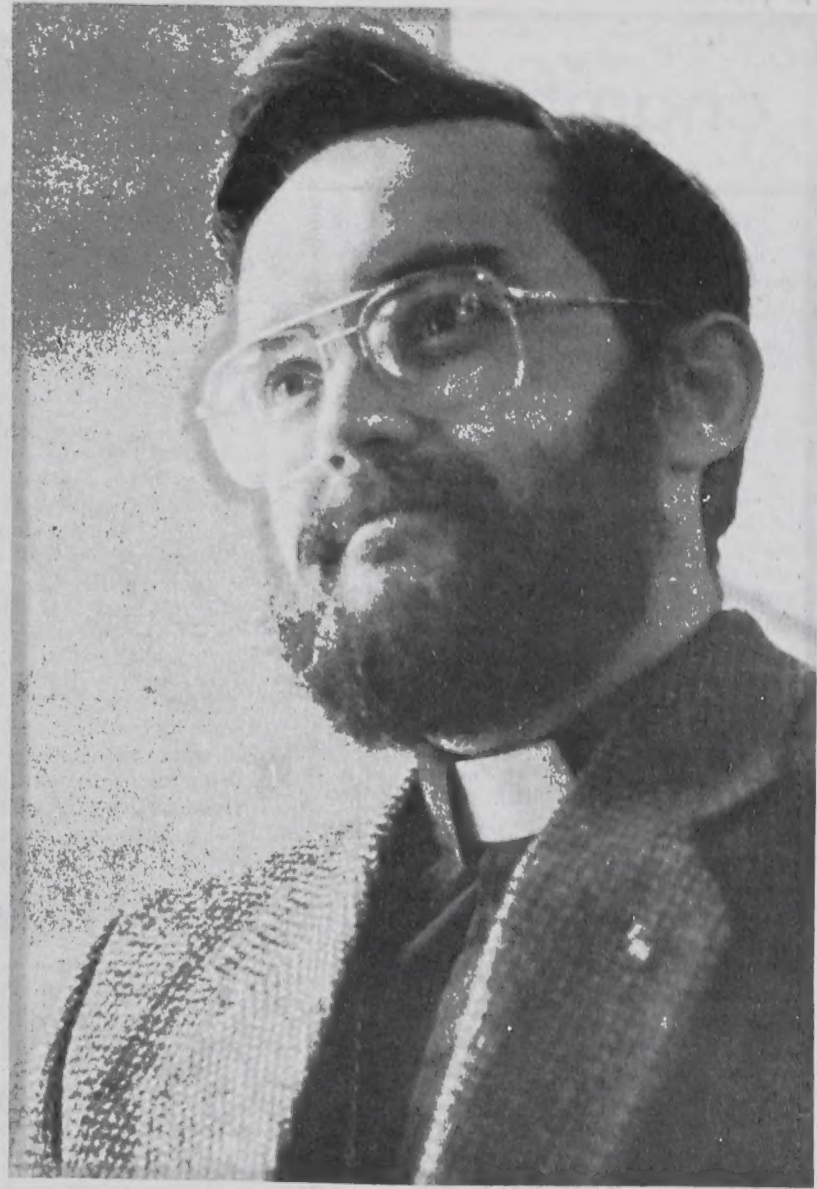

Perhaps the most important influence on his life, he says, was his father. A Dutch immigrant, Moll's father came to Canada in the fifties where he found work as a chef. He's now recognized as one of the best in London. But he also had a great many other talents, among them carpentry, painting and music.

"My father taught me my first chords on the guitar when I was young," explains Moll. From him I also got my interest in carpentry. Yes, he was certainly one of my formative influences."

Moll is enthusiastic about serving in Minden (he'll also be taking services at the churches in Carnarvon, Maple Lake, and Twelve Mile Lake in the summer). And he's going to watch and learn for the first little while to see how things are done here.

"Fitting in," he explains, "has to be a gradual process; it can't happen over night."

"Everything takes time. Especially when you consider that Jesus spent thirty years wandering and wondering what he was going to do, and probably only about three years ministering."

Minden's new United Church minister, Ed Moll, is a young man but he's chalked up a lot of experience.

Grants will promote safety

- by John Eakins, MPP -

As you may have read last week, I have introduced new measures to decrease the number of injuries that occur in amateur sports and in fitness clubs in Ontario.

As Minister of Tourism and Recreation, I have a keen interest in ensuring that people in Victoria-Haliburton and all Ontarians who participate in sporting activities, do so in a safe environment. Everyone - every child, or adult who is involved in a sport or fitness activity in this province must be able to take part knowing that every effort has been made to ensure their safety.

So it is my view and the view of the government, that violence and preventable injury in sports and fitness cannot be tolerated. Many of us in Haliburton and Victoria Counties know of someone who has been injured while participating in sports. Perhaps this injury could have been prevented through safer equipment and better education for our athletes, trainers and coaches.

There are a number of ways these objectives can be achieved.

For example, to make hockey arenas safer, grants from my Ministry will be provided on a cost shared basis to install hockey safety nets with breakaway capability. In consultation with sports groups, a standard education and training program will be developed for all sport trainers, therapists and coaches.

Since becoming minister in 1985, I have been pleased to see new programs

What do you think?

by Bill Kulas

Fur trapping? To most of us when we think of fur trapping, we imagine the days of the great Hudson's Bay Company hundreds of years ago. All types of goods were traded to the Indians for much sought after pelts that were in great demand throughout Europe.

In the past decade, the fur trade has received much media attention, most of it negative. Bridgette Bardot, the French actress, and groups such as Greenpeace, sought ways and means of putting an end to one of Canada's oldest industries, the fur trade.

Last week on a plane trip to Puerto Rico I was handed a newspaper by a fellow passenger. The person was from Buffalo, New York and the paper was the Buffalo News, dated Sunday, January 11.

To my astonishment the front page of the business and finance section featured a coloured picture along with an interesting write up on the recent New York state fur auction.

The article went on to report that unlike the big time Hudson's Bay Company sale going on in Toronto, the New York Trappers' Association auction was closer to the 17th century romance of the fur trade because the trappers could watch the action, the buyers could handle the furs and not bid from catalogued samples. "Almost a thousand lots of furs are being offered by 65 Western New York trappers a small fraction of the fraternity, said association president Charles Hohman. Almost 25,000 members belong to the New York State Trappers' Association". Surprising isn't it? Mr. Hohman went on to state that the trapping was up a little because of better fur prices, but it wasn't the money that lures most to this activity, it's a love of the outdoors. "You start when you're a kid, usually, and never really give it up."

Over the past several years I have had the opportunity to get to know several area trappers, one of whom was my next door neighbour. They all share a deep rooted love and respect for the great outdoors and its wildlife. Most people don't realize that fur is a constantly renewable resource and that man has a duty to be an efficient predator to keep nature balanced.

Stories in the past portraying trappers as beasts and trapping as cruel really distorted the actual facts. Unfortunately, that distortion is what the media usually reports.

and Richard had this terrific idea for what he modestly called "the greatest anti-plaque commercial in history" Black arrived with a couple of props -- a suitcase and a large, cardboard tooth. The agency staff looked on aghast as Black hopped around the office broadloom, brandishing the suitcase and singing: "Hit the road, plaque ... and doncha come back no more, no more, no more, no more..."

Maybe it was just his lousy Ray Charles imitation, but the agency turned him down.

Not that it deflated Richard Black -- not even for a moment. Richard Black is undeflatable. "I can honestly say, without sounding obnoxious, that you are about to meet the most creative person in the world" he announces obnoxiously. Besides, he's got lots of other ideas ... Board games for instance ... and a dynamite decoration idea for your Christmas tree. It consists of strings of plastic holly interspersed with empty Budweiser beer cans.

"Buddy Holly" -- get it?

Funny ... the novelty manufacturers didn't nibble either.

Don't know what Richard Black's going to do now. His two-year deadline for achieving fame is up, and still no call from Carson.

Mind you he did get a call from the David Letterman Show. Trouble is, Letterman didn't want to interview Richard.

He wanted to feature Black's pug dog, Alex on the "stupid pet tricks" portion of his show.

You think Edison and Newton had to put up with this sort of thing?

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

At the December Chamber Board meeting the annual report for the Chambers of Commerce Group Insurance Plan was presented. The results over the past year have been extremely favourable for the Chamber. Many Chamber members, large and small, now enjoy life, disability, extended health and drug and dental coverage.

Other neighbouring Chambers, such as Fenelon Falls and Bancroft, have now also made the plan available to their members.

On March 1, The Canadian General Life Insurance Company will no longer be the underwriting company for the Chamber Plan. This is again due to the tremendous nation wide growth of the plan. Imperial Life will now assume the life and disability coverage. The extended health and dental will be underwritten by Blue Cross of Manitoba.

At that time, existing policies will be improved. There will be more generous definitions of disability, accidental death and dismemberment. On the extended health, the previous maximum benefit of $25,000 has been removed, with no overall maximum. Also, out of province health care expenses have been added, along with increased maximums on the dental insurance benefits. If you would like more information please call 457-1052.

The Special Events, Fund Raising Committee has also been busy. At a recent board meeting the idea of a Chamber of Commerce Cook Book was proposed. Interested members would submit their favourite recipes, and advertising would also be sold to help with the costs of publication. This project would help the Chamber by generating additional revenue. If you are interested in helping with this cook book, please give the Chamber Office a call at 286-1760.

Finally, the Board would like to welcome the new County representative, Carol Puffer to our Board. We all look forward to meeting and working with her. We would also like to say goodbye and thank you to Murray Fearrey and Dalton MacDonald, County's previous representatives. They were hard working members of our Board and all Chamber members should be appreciative of their contributions over the past year.

Summer student job program

- by Bill Scott, MP -

Youth Minister Jean Charest has announced $180 million in funding for the federal government's student summer job program, Challenge '87. Despite these times of fiscal restraint, the government is maintaining last year's level of funding, thereby demonstrating its commitment to Canadian youth.

The Challenge employment program, now in its third year of operation, helps students to find summer jobs and to develop entrepreneurial skills. More than 90,000 summer jobs for students will be created through the program.

The main component of the program, which is called Summer Employment / Experience Development (SEED), makes available $127 million in wage subsidies. These subsidies are available to non-profit organizations as well as the public and private sectors.

Students are paid at least the applicable provincial adult minimum wage, though employers are encouraged to up these wages to reflect different job demands. Data from last year's program shows that the average wage paid to students was $5.95 per hour in the private sector versus $4.64 per hour in the non-private sector.

Because of the government's high level of concern for high school drop-outs, funding for the Work Orientation Workshops (WOW) has been doubled to $8 million. The WOW program provides potential drop-outs with guidance and job experience to assist them in developing their education and employment plans.

Another aspect of Challenge '87 is an $800,000 Student Business Loan initiative which provides funds to support loan guarantees allowing students to manage and operate their own small businesses.

Challenge '87 will also provide support to programs in other government departments, such as the Native Internship Program, the Cadet and Reserve Training Program, and the RCMP Supernumerary Constable Program.

Further information and application forms will be available in early February at Canada Employment Centres and Canada introduced to financially assist municipalities and others in upgrading and maintaining recreational facilities and in other areas, building new facilities. From Pontypool in Manvers Township, to West Guilford in Haliburton County, my ministry has been of considerable financial assistance. Accordingly, as safety standards are developed, grants from my ministry will be contingent on these standards being met. Where there is no safety component, there will be no grant.

These are important initiatives because I think we all want to be sure that every person taking part in sports can do so knowing that our best efforts are being made to ensure their safety.

Summer jobs

I would also like to advise students in Victoria-Haliburton that applications are now being accepted by Ontario Place for summer employment. A limited number of applications are available at my constituency office and deadline for sending completed applications in is January 31, 1987.

Guardian of the County's history

After almost 27 years as the Haliburton County land registrar, Jean Jackson will be retiring April 1.

A spry, able woman, Jackson has done a lot for the county, and because she loves her job, the years she's spent administering the vast collection of deeds and surveyors' charts stored away in the red brick registry building in Minden have meant a lot to her.

But the best thing about it, she says, is the sense of history it gives her. The documents she deals with are not just bits of paper. They're records of all the land transactions that ever took place in Haliburton County, and as such they're the best and most complete history of the county in existence.

For every piece of land in Haliburton, Jean can tell by just glancing into her files what buildings are on it, or had, right back to 1865, who the owners were, and what it was used for.

"Most of the county was developed through free grants," she says, "and that's all in the records. To get settlers up here the Canadian Government would just give the land away, to people and sometimes to companies.

"That's how Dysart et al was opened up. It was given to a lumber firm, the Canada Land and Immigration Company.

And from the files she can also see how big properties became smaller ones as owners died and divided up their land amongst their children. "On record we also have wills. Here for example," Jean says, pulling a tarnished grey file drawer from an ancient cabinet, "is the hundred year-old will of a man who says here, 'I give to my son Jerry the black cow and to my daughter Susan, the grandfather clock.'

"So it's not just dry legal documents, but also curious and personal things that tell us how the pioneers treated their families."

In the province of Ontario there are 66 registry offices. The government knows they are vitally important to the country and it has microfiche records of every document in the offices which it keeps at a central office in Oakville.

"I've never heard of a registry office burning down, but if one did there would be awful havoc if there were no backup records.

"My job here is to supply information on land to anyone who asks - for a small administrative fee, of course. It's mostly real estate salesmen and lawyers who come in here looking for titles. And providing they can name the lot number and concession they're interested in, I can tell them everything they want to know.

"But there are some requests we just can't handle. For instance when couples come in here looking for marriage licences. Every year there are at least a few people who do that, usually about 25 of them.

"It's actually a bit funny. We just explain to them that we don't do those sort of records."

Jean says that one of the most important qualifications of anyone who works in the registry is the ability to write well, because the records are all hand written and have to be legible.

"As you go back into the old books, it's interesting to look at the hand writing. In those days people wrote especially well."

She pulls out one of the books and opens it up. The script on the old yellow page is ornate, with graceful strokes from a fine metal nib.

"Sometimes people will come in here looking for a deed or something just to see how their great-grandfather signed his name, and when you see the way people wrote in those days, it's worth it."

Jean admits that being a county registrar is a demanding job. For every land transaction carried in Haliburton, she has to make sure the proper forms are filled out and signed and then she has to file them in the proper place. Last year, the registry office filed over 6,000 documents.

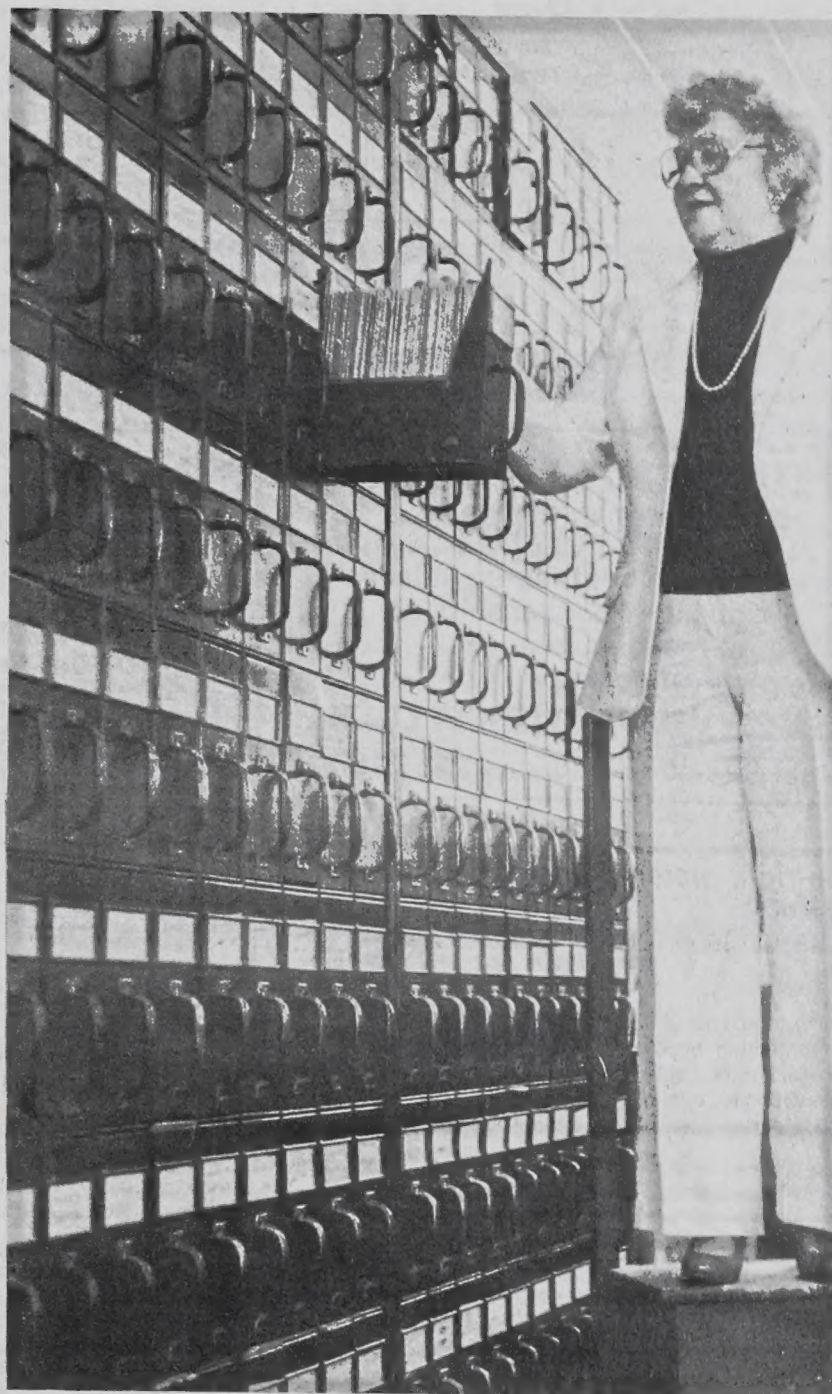

"No, I'm not sure why I like the job so much. But I suppose it's the challenge, the challenge of being the custodian of the history of the County of Haliburton.

Banquet

Jean Jackson will be honoured at a banquet held by the county at the Wig-A-Mog Inn on January 24.

Times trounces Vasey 14-9

The Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League was at it again last Monday night.

In the three games that were played, Home Hardware downed Rockcliffe 8-5. The Times beat Vasey 14-9 and Hartwick defeated Hall's 9-5.

The Home-Rockcliffe game offered spectators some pretty fine puck action. First to score was Foamblower Greg Carpenter, assisted by Kevin Hamilton.

Home came back with a

Keeping warm in the forest

- by Federation of Ontario Naturalists -

On these cold winter mornings, as you shiver through the daily ritual of scraping the frost off your car, it's easy to wonder how anything could survive our Canadian winters. That same thought prompted researchers at Cornell University to look more closely at the Black-capped Chickadee, one of our most common winter birds, to find out how it copes with the extremes of a harsh winter.

Small birds lose heat more quickly than larger animals, especially at colder temperatures or in the wind. On average, chickadees weigh less than half an ounce, or about the same as the combined weight of four pennies. Even though their down insulation and their protective overcoat of feathers greatly reduces heat loss, chickadees must have a diet rich in energy to maintain their body heat.

But unlike other winter birds, the chickadee can turn down the thermostat to conserve heat. During the day, a chickadee's body temperature is about 108 degrees F (42 degrees C). But at night, this body temperature was found to drop by as much as twenty Fahrenheit degrees, causing heartbeat and breathing to goal by John Barkwell and before the end of the period, Paul Walker put one more in for Rockcliffe, assisted by Doug Thain.

At the start of the second period, the score was 2-1 for Rockcliffe, but very soon the game was tied up again. Rockcliffe started the period by adding to their lead, with a goal by Kevin Hamilton, assisted by Barry Boice.

But Home came back with a three goal streak that continued into the third period. First to score was Dean Hewitt, assisted by John Barkwell. They were followed up by John Fedeski, assisted again by Barkwell.

With an even 3-3 score at the start of the last period, Home began to pull ahead. Unassisted, Jeff Howe pushed up the score once more for Home.

But giving it one last spurt of energy, Rockcliffe player Jim Keetch, assisted by Paul Walker, knocked one more in. That was added to by Doug Schell, who notched Rockcliffe's fifth and final goal.

In the remaining time, Home shocked up a four goal streak. Scorers were Dean Hewitt, three goals, and John Barkwell.

In game two, The Times beat Vasey 14-9.

Exceptional performances were turned in by Times player Boomer Stamp who put in five goals for his team; Ben Manuge who for three for The Times; Barry Walker and Larry Sawyer who both got three for Vasey; Dave Hartwick who got two for Vasey and Dave Rogers and Jerry Campbell who each scored two.

Other scorers included: Times player Darryl Ward and Bart Hilhorst, each with Transport Minister John Crosbie has released technical specifications for the mandatory installation of daytime running lights on new cars.

The new regulation specifies that as of September 1988, any new vehicle manufactured with a daytime running light system must meet the technical requirements of the federal government. After December 1, 1989, it will be mandatory that all vehicles manufactured in Canada or imported into Canada be fitted with a daytime running light system.

The specifications set out the size, light intensity, colour, and mounting location for daytime running lights. They identify options that can be used for the lights and the means of activating the chosen system. The options allow manufacturers to install systems that provide long bulb life. Battery drain will be eliminated and maintenance costs should be minimal during the life of the vehicle.

It is estimated that the new safety feature will reduce daytime multiple vehicle collisions by 10 to 20 per cent, and save up to $200 million a year in medical and property damage costs.

There was some fine playing in the last game of the evening in which Hartwick beat Halls 9-5.

Hartwick gained the lead at the beginning of the first period when Sid MacKeigan assisted by Gary Nelson slipped the puck into the Hall's goal. Hall's fought back with a goal by Louie Reynolds, assisted by Rick Salmon.

It was an even, hard fought game right up until the third period when Hartwick took its four goal lead.

Remaining scorers were: Eldon Bull with 1, Rick Salmon, 2; Dave Brown, 2; Sid MacKeigan, 5; Dan Reid, 1 and Gary Nelson.

The action continues Monday night with the last game of the regular season. Hall's plays The Times at 7 p.m. Rockcliffe and Vasey's at 8:30 p.m. and Hartwick at Home at 10 p.m. There is no change for spectators. The playoffs will begin the following week.

Pedestrian hurt in mishap

A pedestrian at the corner of Highland and Maple Streets in Haliburton Village suffered minor injuries after being struck by a vehicle.

June Manley of Gooderham, was crossing with the green light when she was hit by a car driven by Donald Spencey, 31, of Thorold.

The driver has been charged with failing to yield for a pedestrian.

Constable Bob Wood is the investigating officer.

Charges laid

A Haliburton area man has been charged with false pretenses after he cashed a cheque at the Haliburton IGA store.

Charged in the incident is 22 year old Dusty Upton. The cheque had been presented at the store on December 31.

Upton is currently being held in jail in Lindsay on a number of other charges.

Interference

Motorists are being reminded that it is against the law to park vehicles in such a manner as to interfere with snow removal operations.

Police note that cottage owners, ice fishermen and others have been parking at the side of township roads in the Highlands, creating problems for the municipal snow removal crews.

According to the Highway Traffic Act, the police have the authority to remove a vehicle which interferes with snow clearing operations. The cost of towing away the car is the responsibility of the vehicle's owner.

The week

During the past week, officers with the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated 49 occurrences, which included the issuing of three - 12 hour driving suspensions, six frauds, two thefts, and one break and enter.

Council approves logging tender

A tender submitted by Dave Sisson to provide a team of horses, a sleigh, teamster and skidding equipment for the Ingoldsby Woodlot project has been accepted by the Anson, Hindon and Minden council. The tenders were opened at a special meeting of the council held Friday afternoon.

The tender submitted by Dave Sisson was for $18.60 per hour. Four other teamsters offered their services. Two with lower bids;

Murray Cowen at $15.63 per hour and Warren Aggett at $17.50 per hour, were not considered, according to a municipal official, since the individuals reside outside of the municipality. Two higher bids were also received. They were submitted by Paul Aggett at $18.75 an hour and Ross Warburton at $20.00 per hour.

Councillors Verne Graham and Bob Sisson were not in attendance at the meeting.

Atoms open playoffs

On Thursday, January 15 the Minden Atoms travelled to Bobcaygeon to start their first play-off series.

The game proved to be an exciting match with the local boys edging the home team 3 to 2. Minden opened the scoring when Corbie Kent backhanded a shot into the net with an assist going to Jeremy Phillips.

Bobcaygeon then came back to score two goals and led 2 to 1 until 5:17 into the third period when Dave Ackerblade jammed in a goal on nice passes from Derek Janke and Corbie Kent. With only 2:31 remaining Corbie Kent got the winner when he stuffed in a Dave Ackerblade rebound.

Minden held on with a strong defensive effort from the whole team to seal the win.

Game 2 of the series will be played Tuesday, January 20 at 7:30 p.m. and game 4 will be January 25 at 12:30 p.m. Both games are in Minden. Come out and support a local team and see some fine minor hockey.

Ackerblade scores hat trick

A hat-trick from Robie Ackerblade led the Minden Pee Wees to a 5-3 win over their counter-parts from Baltimore in a game played Saturday.

Two of Ackerblade's goals were unassisted while Jamie Dollo and Jason Scarlett assisted on the other tally.

Also scoring for the Pee Wees were Wyatt Nesbitt on a pass from Jamie Dollo and Jamie Walker, and Jason Scarlett connecting on a pass from Jamie Dollo.

Aaron Hie was in the nets for the Minden team and held the visitors to three goals.

Heating pads hazard

By Doreen Hawman

Recently the CSA Vancouver Consumer Advisory Panel investigated the use of heating pads and found they were being used in an improper manner, which could be very dangerous.

Did you know that these pads are not designed for continuous use or to withstand the pressure of someone lying on them? The panel found that they are being commonly used for therapeutic reasons and recommended the design be changed. The electrical element is sealed in a moisture resistant envelope that can be damaged through pressure or perforation by a sharp object.

Consumers are warned not to crush or fold the pad or pile other objects on them. When purchasing a new heating pad, be sure and have the salesperson explain the proper care and usage as per the instruction included.

Huskies win series opener against Fenelon

The Haliburton Husky Bantams played their first game in a best of 5 series against Fenelon Falls last Friday and came away with a 5 - 3 victory. During the regular season, Fenelon in two previous matches defeated Haliburton.

Fenelon opened the scoring at 11:35 of the first period but their lead was short lived as Kyle Hewitt connected from Darren Byers only 15 seconds later to tie the score. Fenelon went ahead again at 12:06 of the second period only to lose their lead again at 8:46 on a goal by Scott Russell assisted by John Vuksic.

The Huskies now tied, put on the pressure and scored three more goals in the final six minutes of the second period.

The go ahead goal was scored by Kent Taylor assisted by Brian Waller. Next came Darren Byers on a relay play from Scott Russell and John Vuksic.

With only 14 seconds left in the period, Kent Taylor scored his second of the game assisted by Darren Byers and Brent Flood.

Fenelon Falls scored at 9:18 of the third period to make it 5 - 3 for Haliburton and despite some good chances at both ends of the rink there was no more goals scored.

Gavin McKnight played strongly and was the winning goaltender.

Game two is this Friday night, January 23 at 8:30 p.m. in the Haliburton Arena. Game three is also at the Haliburton Arena on Monday, January 26 at 8:00 p.m. The play-offs are here so come on out and support the Bantam Huskies.

Novices win

The Minden Novice II's hosted the Fenelon 3 team and came away with a well earned 6 - 0 victory with 8 players getting points.

Scorers were Donald Todd 2 goals; Ryan Anderson 1 goal and 1 assist; Nathan Stephenson 1 goal and 1 assist; Chris Kerr 1 goal; Philip Daniels 1 goal; Shamus Donnelly 2 assists; Wade Hartin and Ashley Walker 1 assist each.

Later that night Minden travelled to Fenelon to take on the Fenelon 2 team. In a hard fought game Minden scored a 2 - 1 victory.

Donald Todd scored both Minden goals.

Both games were excellent team efforts and all the players deserve congratulations.

PROPERTY ASSESSMENT

and your 1987 Municipal and School Taxes

Regional Assessment Offices located throughout Ontario are responsible for assessing all real property for the purposes of municipal and school taxation.

The resulting Assessment Rolls are delivered to municipalities which use them to set their mill rates and compute municipal property tax bills.

The amount of property tax you pay on your home or business depends on the assessed value and the mill rate set by your municipality. The assessed value multiplied by the mill rate will determine your 1987 property taxes.

Open House Sessions

Open Houses are your opportunity to fully understand your assessment and to evaluate its equity.

Open Houses are held in every municipality at convenient times and locations to provide you with the opportunity to discuss your assessment with staff of the Regional Office.

An assessor will be pleased to explain the basis of your property assessment and is authorized to amend any inaccurate information prior to the delivery of the Assessment Roll to your municipality.

If you have any questions but are unable to attend the Open House, please contact your Regional Assessment Office at the address or telephone number shown below.

Assessment Notice

Property owners and tenants will receive an Assessment Notice only if information relating to their property or assessment was changed during the past year, if the assessment was appealed last year, or if there has been a general reassessment in the municipality. If you receive an Assessment Notice, it may reflect changes you have requested in your school support designation, in the amount of your assessed value, or other recorded information on last year's Notice.

Appeal Procedure

If, after attending your local Open House, you are still dissatisfied with your assessment, you have the right to appeal it to the Assessment Review Board. The Assessment Review Board conducts informal hearings and is responsible for determining whether the assessment under appeal is fair and equitable with the assessments of similar properties in the vicinity or neighbourhood, and may alter your assessment accordingly.

Appeal Deadline

The final date for appealing your assessment is February 26, 1987.

Your appeal must be forwarded, either on a Notice of Appeal Form or as a letter, to the Regional Registrar of the Assessment Review Board on or before February 26, 1987, noting your property address, roll number and the reason for the appeal.

To assist you, Notice of Appeal forms and the address of the Regional Registrar of the Assessment Review Board are available at Open Houses, your Regional Assessment Office, or your municipal office.

Many activities for seniors

Volunteer's Day was the official name of the Haliburton County Home Support dinner at the PineStone Inn last Friday, and the event was a complete success.

After an excellent lunch of Veal Cordon Bleu, guests listened to speeches by Bruce Armstrong and Shelly Thomson-Schell.

Thomson-Schell, who's an administrator at Sir Sandford Fleming College, spoke about courses that might interest seniors and asked which ones her listeners might like to see on the list.

She said that one particularly useful course on how to hold successful meetings was being given. By taking this course, anyone new to taking part in an organization can learn how it's done.

Also, she said, the college is offering a course on ballroom dancing. Seniors are welcome and would likely enjoy it a great deal.

A member of the audience suggested that the college also offer square dancing, and Thomson-Schell said she would look into it.

She pointed out that all courses are not eligible for a discount in fees.

A most amusing speech was given by Bruce Armstrong, the co-ordinator for the Ontario Senior Games for the Muskoka - Haliburton region.

Armstrong spoke about the wide range of activities and facilities available to seniors.

One thing he's discovered recently, he said, is the Elderhostel, schools set up especially for seniors, usually in universities and community colleges.

In this country most elderhostels are open in the summer and they're becoming very popular. They're a successful in Europe and have been operating there for some time.

Armstrong said there are 58 elderhostels in Canada, 17 of them in the province of Ontario.

They offer a smorgasbord of general and intellectual courses. The minimum cost of a Canadian course is about $210, and for that fee seniors can pick from a list of courses that includes archaeology, the study of hand writing, square dancing, ventriloquism, Bach, rainforests, the tides of the world.

There are no exams and the courses are non-credit.

Adventurous seniors can also take courses at elderhostels set up in Scandinavia ($2,400), China ($2,700) and India ($2,240).

He pointed out that besides learning about interesting subjects, students at elderhostels have a great time meeting fellow students.

Catherine Hodgson-McMahon, who runs the drop-in centre in Haliburton Village, then spoke about the 'activities she's been planning.

One important event she mentioned was the Haliburton Winter Games, to be held at Deer Lodge. The games will be the first of their kind in the province and will take place Monday, February 16.

Spectators and participants will check in at 9 a.m. Games to be played include: table shuffleboard, bingo, checkers and card games.

At 11:30 there will be "deer races", at which players may make small wagers (25¢) on the animal of their choice.

The committee will keep our community posted as to the outcome of the feasibility study for the Heritage Park plan. We are chafing at the delay ourselves as we find ourselves battling political restrictions.

Senior curlers chase the blahs

On Saturday evening, January 10, the Curling Club rocked to sounds of concertina music, toe-tapping, the shuffle of feet, singing and bursts of laughter as the senior men and women curlers chased the January blahs with their first social of the curling year.

The social committee of Ed Pettinger and Frank Codlin wisely selected local musicians Ed Pickard and his wife Billie, who are well loved by the curlers for their renditions of songs ranging from the early thirties through Rock and Roll age, jive, waltzes, the Gay Gordons and, would you believe it, even the 'Chicken.'

Ed and Frank personally danced with every woman at the social (all in the interests of good hosting of course) and no lady was without several invitations to dance many times. Many extroverted gave individual presentations of their "fleetest of foot" and of course, what auld country laddie or lassie could resist the reels? They were tempted to close the bar when 80 year old Herb Gill gathered a group of cronies to croon the good old songs, but the evening was saved by the unveiling of the buffet table covered with assorted sandwiches, cheeses and other treats. (Just kidding Herb, you're voice is great!) Rumour has it that another social is planned for early March.

Fun Day, January 18
"Turn about is fair play" was the motto for senior curlers at the Sunday Fun Day as the regular skips played first rocks and the vices took over as skips. At least 50% of the new skips were ladies and didn't we get our eyes opened fellas? Some of the beginning curlers were promoted to vice and communication for calls was hilarious.

The 4-end games were surprisingly close and winners fought winners for the final victory. Husbands and wives were placed on separate teams and in many cases were on rival teams. There were even husband and wife skips Mary and Aulie Orpana, Lois and Sid Adamson's team battled it out to a tie in the second draw (Sid said he was threatened with having to sleep on the couch if he won).

Herb Fischer's eyes sparkled as he watched the skip's broom, eyed the opponents rocks in the far circle, gave a tremendous heave, thrust right hand aloft, stamped his foot, and gave a banzai victory shriek...then watched his stone sail past the target closely. "Next time," he muttered.

It was glory day for Ann Baker as she stepped into the breach, when her skip wasn't able to be present, and led her team to two victories and first place finish.

Winning teams were: first Ann Baker (skip) Marjorie Robertson, Tony Dymott; second Earle McDonald (skip) Molly McCarthy, Ursula Dymott, Horry Baker; third Hazel Maxwell (skip), Ed Shaw, Bob Wiltshire; fourth Russ King (skip), Ross Codlin, Eric Lewis, Joyce Wiltshire.

Prizes were purchased and awarded by Gil Scott who was treated very well by merchants as he made his purchases locally.

The Pot Luck supper was of superb quality. As everyone had signed for casserole, salad, dessert, etc., there was plenty of snacks, main courses and desserts.

When the tea hostess Merle Codlin found a pie in the fridge during Monday's men's curling it was promptly auctioned and added to the surplus from the Fun Day to help club activities.

Now that the rank and file have had a fling at calling the shots, the skips had better hold a tight broom - in-turn, out-turn, re-turn anyone?

Stan Hill.

Here is a hint I read - use pieces cut into soles - from meat trays and these help keep your feet warm.

Now that the snow has come, don't forget your winter birds with a feeding station or bags of bread crusts or suet. It is rewarding to see how many varieties are here in our area.

Snowy weather is promised us, but be sure and test the ice on the lakes before going out, as this might not be safe. There were several drownings involving snowmachines on the weekend again though not in our county.

Yvonne Guida flew to St. Louis to spend Christmas with part of her family, Dr. James Guida, his wife Connie and their daughter Laura. She had a great time and they had Christmas dinner at their home with Connie's family, went to dinner at the Country Club, saw the movies Crimes of the Heart, and Brighton Beach Memoirs which they all enjoyed very much. She flew back in time to see Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker ballet at the O'Keefe Center. The Nutcracker Prince was Rex Harrington, a fantastic young dancer and after the performance, she went backstage and met not only his parents, but Rex himself who she had seen previously dance a solo in the opera Aida. He was charming as were his parents. He will certainly achieve great things. New Year's Eve was spent at the Essex House Hotel with a sumptuous feast and all the trimmings. New Year's day was spent at the CN Tower for brunch, after which she boarded a bus for the trip home. Yvonne wishes everyone a happy and prosperous New Year. Because of her interest in the Performing Arts, Yvonne has just been made a member of the President's Council of the Canadian Opera Company. The company's next performance will be Die Fledermaus.

I dreamt death came to me one night,
And Heaven's gates flew wide.
With kindly grace St. Peter came,
And ushered me inside.
There - to my astonishment
Were friends I known on earth;
Some I had labelled as unfit,
And some of little worth.
Indignant words flew to my lips,
Words I could not set free,
For every face showed stunned surprise...
No one expected me!

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off - in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why is there a mother's day and a father's day but not a son's day?

A: Because there is a Sunday every week.

Q: Why was the farmer angry?

A: Because someone stepped on his corn.

Q: How do you pronounce Volix?

Volume nine.

Q: When were there only two vowels?

A: In the days of No - A, before U and I were born.

As they say in Texas, it's a pretty day.

Our service Sunday evening was taken by Rev. J. Burgess and Mrs. Burgess, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and on Tuesday morning Rev. J. Fast of the Minden Gospel Church took the service.

The movies Monday night were "Northern Games", "Northern Voyage and Birds of the Prairie". These kind of pictures seem to please us all.

Miss Kathy Owens and Mr. Don White came to sing and play for us on Wednesday evening. Everyone enjoyed it very much. We hope they will come again.

I am sorry to report Charlie Brohm is on the sick list. We hope he will soon be well. Gordon Ruttle is home after a while in hospital. He looks well and says he is fine now.

Sinc Nesbitt was in Saturday evening to see his mother. Jean and George Hewitt came Sunday and took me for a nice ride to Haliburton to see my granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dart.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Brohm and Mr and Mrs. Don Brohm visited their father Charlie Brohm on Saturday.

Lola Prentice, Edna Cowan and Mrs. Shuyler are all on the sick list. We hope they will soon be well. Mrs. Barnum had her sister and husband take her out for dinner Sunday.

Charlie Brohm's son Cecil from Oshawa came to visit awhile with him on Sunday.

The U.C.W. Ladies brought our Tea Party goodies last Thursday and they sure were good. The music and singing was also very enjoyable.

A mother's love, a child's caress are the things that really bless.

Till next week.

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

Wintario has come and gone and it was a very successful evening. The pretelecast show was delightful and highly entertaining, thanks to the talented people who volunteered their time and expertise.

The Guild Choir, under the direction of Marilyn Stouffer, started off the show with some beautiful versions of folk and popular songs. Joey Nicholson had the audience roaring with laughter as he sang and performed his comedic routine. John Miller, Nancy

Robichaud and Melissa Stephens put on a very polished, professional show with all their music related to the theme of the evening, mainly winning with Wintario. At the reception following the evening's show, we had a chance to meet the technicians and stars of the the Global Network and Wintario. A special thanks goes out to the Legionnaires who helped in so many ways, especially Joan, Irv, Jack, Ken and White, with special thanks to Jim, the manager of Branch 129. Thanks also to the members of the Legion sponsored Cadet Corps.

Have you signed up for the sleighride taking place on Saturday, January 24? This promises to be a fun time, taking place at Murray Cowen's farm, followed by delicious chili back at the Branch. Don't miss it.

Work has started on the the February bulletin. If any committee chairpersons have anything they wish to have printed in the bulletin, please get the information to me as soon as possible.

Playdowns for the International Dart Team have already started and will be on again Saturday, January 31 starting at 2 p.m. The dart tournament will take place on Sunday, February 15. Attending the Dart Tournament is a great way to wind up the weekend of the Winter Carnival. Again this year, the admission price is only $2.00 per person and includes your meal of bangers, mash, meat pie, veg and gravy and tea or coffee.

There will be an executive meeting on Thursday, January 29 at 7:30 p.m. and the next general meeting will take place on February 5 at 8 p.m.

We were surprised and delighted to receive requests for information about this summer's Bluegrass. Two letters were received, both from towns in Northern Ontario, requesting dates, times and names of performers. As soon as the line up of artists is confirmed, posters will be printed and information circulated.

Assistance for day care is available in the county

by Faith Aggett

A couple of weeks ago I wrote an article explaining the idealism of universal day care. Although many involved with day care are encouraging this system to be adopted, I really can not see it being instituted for many years. In the meantime, there is already available a programme to assist parents with their child care costs.

Subsidized Child Care is a way of making preschool programmes more affordable. It is not a welfare service. It is a system of assistance which is geared to the combined family income. Each application is evaluated individually after a mandatory needs test is completed. Subsidization is granted on the basis of actual income vs. bills and expenditures. The work pattern of the wage earners, whether they be full-time, part-time or seasonally employed, the number of children in the family, type of property owned and the type and amount of savings are all factors which contribute to the evaluation. All information gathered is processed discreetly and kept extremely confidential. All discontinued files are destroyed one year after withdrawal from the programme.

Because each case is unique there are no cut and dry figures that I can print as to who may and may not be granted subsidy, but I can give a hypothetical example of a family who may receive child care subsidy.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have just purchased a $40,000 home with a 25 year mortgage. They have four children ages 7, 5, 3 and 1. Mr. Brown takes home $1,720.00/month. Mrs. Brown has a part-time job and brings home $280.00/month. Mr. Brown is required to have a pick-up truck for his job for which there are monthly payments. Mrs. Brown also needs a vehicle and they have leased a mini-van that will serve as family transportation. They are barely making ends meet. Although Mrs. Brown could switch to full-time employment, the cost of child care would not make it worthwhile. For her to send one child to licenced day care would cost her $14/day. Subsidy would reduce the fee 80%. She could pay as little as $2.80 for the first child. If she were working full-time, instead of $65 week for the first child, she could, with subsidy, be paying only $13/week. With the granting of subsidy, the family has a chance to get ahead with a second full-time wage earner.

Sounds wonderful and definitely something to be looked into! Can you get it in Minden? Not yet, and maybe not for awhile. It is dependent on the response to the need for day care. As I mentioned in last week's article, CHACE Inc., is contemplating the opening of a Day Care Centre and going through the process of becoming an Approved Corporation so that subsidized Child Care can be offered to the families in our area.

If you will be needing child care in the near future with, or without the aid of child subsidy, it is vital that you approach us now. Then we can set the wheels in motion and have everything workable before the busy summer season. Call me at 286-1831 or Minden CHACE 286-1770.

Grant will help Glamorgan Township

The Haliburton County Library board received word from MPP John Eakins on Friday evening that the provincial government will be providing up to $11,600 to improve library services in Glamorgan Township.

Mr. Eakins, the Minister of Tourism, and Recreation and MPP for Victoria-Haliburton, made the announcement while speaking at the first meeting of the Wilberforce & District Businessmen's Association.

The Township of Glamorgan's application for a grant under the Community Facilities Improvement Program was recently approved by the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture. Eakins said, "the library board provides an important service to the residents and visitors of Haliburton and I was pleased to support the municipality's application."

The grant will financially assist the municipality in building a new facility which will house municipal offices, the library and the Post Office. "I am particularly pleased that my colleague, the Honourable Lily Munro approved the application because the new facility will provide better access for the handicapped," Mr. Eakins said.
